

FROM POINTS AROUND.

[REPORTED SPECIALLY FOR THE STAR.]

DATON, KY.—The ladies of the Presbyterian Church this evening gave a supper and entertainment. These occasions have become known as among the most pleasant social gatherings that our people have an opportunity of attending, and one never fails to draw a full house.

LUDLOW, KY.—The Literary and Dancing Club is to be revived. With this and the society entertainments, the Church lectures and many private entertainments, our people will have many opportunities of spending pleasant evenings during the winter.

We heretofore unintentionally omitted to note the unanimous re-election of City Clerk James H. Barlow, to whom no better choice could be made.

BELLEVUE, KY.—We understand a movement is on foot and a subscription list opened for the purpose of raising funds to erect a Town Hall. This is a good move, and one we have no doubt will meet with the approbation of the citizens.

A large number of our young people enjoyed themselves yesterday skating on Taylor creek, and also on the rink at Berry and Center streets, which was in splendid condition.

The question of having a Post-office here is being agitated. This is a want that has long been felt by the people of Bellevue, and we see no reason why there should not be one. It is to be hoped that this matter will be attended to by the proper authorities.

LEXINGTON, KY.—The penalty for refusing to be vaccinated is $15.

A difficulty occurred in Georgetown Friday between Oscar Barbee and Henry Thompson, over an account between the two. Barbee suddenly drew a pistol and fired, killing Thompson instantly. This is the way they settle old debts at the end of the year in our country.

No action was taken in regard to the gas question at the last Council meeting. Matters will go on and the next thing the Gas Company will renew its charter without any amendments. The street lamps have not been lit up over ten hours in the past ten nights, and there is no remedy. The Company draws its annual pay for gas from the city and yet they light or extinguish their lamps whenever they feel inclined. Our wise City Fathers know all this, and yet pass it by unnoticed.

The Baptist Sunday School celebrated its anniversary yesterday. The meeting was addressed by Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge.

Mrs. Kourne, a destitute lady with three small children, was on Saturday kindly taken care of by being removed to the Charity Hospital and placed in charge of the good sisters of that humane institution.

COVINGTON.—The Democratic City Convention meets to-night at the Court-house.

A reward of $25 is offered for the arrest of the man who was in a late alarm. In the Chancery Court, Thursday, the answer of Margaret Stacy, in the case of Geo. Stacy's executors against Stacy's devisees, was filed. She claims her husband, at the time of making the will, "was incompetent, and unable in law and fact to make a binding will."

The will of James McLaughlin and wife to have the order of sale in the case of A. Bley & Bro. against James McLaughlin, et al., set aside, was filed. J. H. Witte was granted a divorce from his wife, Mary A. Witte. The Court adjourned until Wednesday, December 29.

The alarm of fire turned in from box No. 6 Saturday night was false.

John Bollinger, the noted boot and shoe maker on Scott street, is running for Council.

The "Lotta Dramatic Club" gives its first entertainment at Odd-fellows' Hall to-night. The club is composed of some persons as are able to give one a first-class entertainment. "Holly Bush Hall" and "Handy Andy" are the pieces selected for the occasion.

James D. Stevens was married yesterday to Louisa E. Clarke. Both are from Georgia, and their mothers don't know they're out.

In the Mayor's Court, Ed. Clary, John O'Connor, Barney Brune and James McCann were fined $4 apiece for drunkenness. The cases of Jack Fennell, charged with a breach of peace and carrying concealed weapons, were continued until tomorrow. Jos. P. Crawford, Jos. Harris and Hugh McShane, breach of the peace, were continued. John Finnigan and Pat. Egan, drunkenness, $4 each.

Henry Johnson and Mollie Williams, who are both colored, came in from Florence this morning and took out a marriage license. Henry paid for it. Henry had about six cabbage leaves, and asked for the nearest "Squire." The nearest one was Francis. "Squire Francis" was accordingly appealed to by the couple. They were married. The "Squire" gave them a certificate and waived his fee. Henry, who, by the way, had about six dollars in his pocket, only had seventy-five cents. He gave Francis the cash and said he would return to-morrow with a load of hay and pay the deficiency, amounting to $1.25. When the "Squire" after the departure of the newly married pair, was informed that the colored gentleman was the wealthy possessor of over $5 he swore a fearful oath and is now anxiously waiting for that money.

The fire alarm from box 2 about six o'clock this morning brought out the company to Twelfth and Greenup, when there was no fire to be seen.

NEWPORT.—The Democratic Convention on Saturday night nominated John Claghterty to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Mr. W. H. Jones, member of the City Council, from the Second ward. Capt. Wm. N. Air will run as an independent candidate.

Rev. F. A. Stela has been appointed to conduct missionary work in this city.

The 12:45 P. M. train on the Short Line did not arrive Saturday until 2:30. The freight yesterday morning was also held time some two hours.

It is amusing to see the activity that now animates the politicians in the Second ward. Next Tuesday the election for Councilmen to the Second ward, occasioned by the resignation of Mr. Jones takes place, and a lively time may be anticipated.

George Michaels and Randall Horn, two members of our old band, now at Columbus, arrived to-day on the two o'clock train, and will remain about ten days.

Pat Ryan was fined $5 and costs by Judge Geisler for drunkenness. Joseph Maron, for the same offense, was fined $2 and costs.

It was C. L. Shannon, Jr., and not his father, who was injured at the elevator at the Little Miami R. R., last week.

The pay-car of the Little Miami R. R. paid the boys a visit to this side of the Ohio Saturday last, and made some hearts glad.

Captain Tom Dowling will be headman at the festival at the Church of the Immaculate Conception next Monday.

Hugh McGee, some days ago, was knocked down on the Licking bridge and robbed of a number of keys. Luckily Hugh had no money with him, though he had been paid of a few hours before.

The old Eclipse Dancing Association No. 1 will give a grand ball Christmas afternoon at 3 P. M., and terminate at 12 o'clock, midnight. The supper will be served at 6 o'clock in the evening. The ball will be held in Odd-fellows' Hall.

The County Court convened this morning and transacted the following business: W. A. Carter was appointed administrator of Wm. Rogers, deceased. Thomas Gray was appointed Constable for the First District in place of Joseph Taylor. The settlements of Robert Pys, Henry Ballay, Daniel Wolf and Mary Hingelbrock were presented.

MAGAZINE NOTICES.

ST. NICHOLAS

is full of splendid Christmas stories, that will find appreciative readers of every age. "H. H." so well known to the reading public, contributes "The Parable of St. Christopher" and the illustration constitutes the frontispiece. "The Little Old Man in the Forest," is one of the most beautiful of German stories, and "Piccola" is a charming Christmas poem.

The second paper of "How Plants Come From Seeds," illustrates the peculiarities of their growth.

Miss Allcott gives us a beautiful story, "Majorie's Birthday Gifts," and "Toinette and the Mites," is a rival.

Boys will take special interest in Bayard Taylor's "Story of Jon of Iceland," "Bass Cove Sketches" and "The Boy Emigrants," all to be continued in succeeding numbers, while "Christmas in the Far East," and many others, will hardly prove less attractive in their completed form.

There are many poems and abundant literature of the most attractive type for very little people, and "Jack in the Pulpit" has information for everybody.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE

for January is the opening number of the seventeenth volume. The attraction for the year is to be a series of papers under the title of "The Century, its Fruits and its Festival," illustrative of past and present progress, and intended to be a record as well as of the Centennial Exhibition. The preliminary number opens this magazine considers the general progress of the century in civilization and invention. The succeeding numbers are to be illustrated. The third paper of Mr. Bruce's "Up the Thames" will commend itself to a single glance to either old or new readers alike. The first ten illustrations are of the famous Hampton Court, accompanied by a description of its former glory and the historical personages associated with it. Religious systems and ideas are dealt with in the first paper of "Sketches of India."

"The House on the Beach," designed to illustrate the benefits of the Seaside, "Gentle home and Gentleman," "Anecdotes of Court Life in France," and "Famishing Portugal," a portrayal of the destitution and demoralization of the masses, are all worthy of these pages.

Kemble contributes one of the several poems that are given us. Romance is also represented, and the usual miscellany is embraced in "Our Monthly Gospel," and "Literature of the Day."

HARPER'S MAGAZINE

for January will satisfy the most exacting in the variety and elegance of its matter. "The Okiwaha," with its sixteen engravings, is written in a popular style, and is illustrative of travel and incident in Florida.

"The Poetry of Steeple" is the title of an essay on bells that will excite the interest of every reader.

Another calculated to excite enthusiasm, and more particularly in the scholarly mind, is "Cambridge on the Charles," a narrative of its historical, architectural, civil and literary annals, with twenty-six illustrations representative of its points of special interest, and its literary celebrities.

"The First Century of the Republic," in its fifteenth paper, concludes its review of the exact Sciences, and concludes additionally "Natural Science," by Theo. Gill.

"Gothic Architecture," next in point of order and timeliness, demonstrates the principles, development and influence of the prevailing style of architecture: its modifications and adaptability to modern requirements. Part IV of "Legislative History," considers the utility of a written constitution, in contrast to the more forcible records of earlier days, and the vivacity of Congressional life.

Romance is represented by the continuation of Hawthorne's "Gothic," and "Natural Selection," "A Country Chorister," and "Don Joaquin," completed and by the way.

There are six poems, one of which is by J. Platt. The "Editor's Literary Record" is very full and able, while the other departments are not wanting in matter and interest.

ATLANTIC

The January number of this magazine opens with three more chapters of W. D. Howells' new serial, "Private Theatricals," which promises to excel any of the previous works of that gifted author.

Mrs. Frances Anne Kemble resumes her entertaining "Old Woman's Gospel," which is rendered of even greater interest than heretofore by the introduction of some letters written by her in her girlhood.

"The History of Railroad Accidents," by Chas. Frances Adams, is continued, and in this paper the author gives a detailed account of the memorable "Beverly Catastrophe" on the Eastern railroad, near Boston, Massachusetts.

The sketch of travel entitled "Going South," is by the popular authoress, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, and contains a pleasant description of a journey to the Land of Flowers, and what was seen and heard by the way.

"The Master of Sicily," is also a very interesting sketch, in which we have a full description of the famous troops of brigands that infest that island, and also gives us an excellent idea of the general social condition of its inhabitants.

The story of secret history designed by the author of "The Secret of the Secret," is by Allan B. Magruder, and deserves a careful perusal.

"Jacques Jaamin," by Harriet W. Preston, is an agreeable little essay upon the life and writings of the famous provincial poet, with translations of several of his best poems.

"One of the Thirty Pieces," is a clever short story by W. H. Bishop.

John G. Whitler contributes a charming poem, "Sunset on the Bearcamp," and Dr. Holmes also has one, and in his happiest vein, entitled "A Familiar Letter," and there are two sonnets by T. B. Aldrich, "At Stratford-on-Avon," and

"Three Flowers." Besides these there are other excellent poems by Mrs. Pratt, Louise Chandler Moulton and Maurice Thompson; and a paper by Mr. Maurice Thompson on "Four New Books of Poetry." The editorial departments of Recent Literature, Art and Education are full of interesting reviews and articles.

The Herzegovinian Chief.

[Cottage, Nov. 18, correspondence of the London Times.]

It would seem to be probable that the Herzegovinian insurrection has at length found its end, and that a man capable of wielding the authority disunited forces has come to the front. The Chief of Piva, Lazzaro Socica, has shown, in various operations, an innate military capacity and variety of resources which, together with what was already known here of his energy and devotion to the liberation of his country, as well as a certain magnetic enthusiasm, which gives him absolute control over his followers, entitle him to the first place among all the chiefs.

He is a young man of considerable means for this country, almost the only Christian landed proprietor of the mountain country, which he has owned for several years, and a resident of Montenegro. His possession of real estate is explained by the fact that in this section the Turks have never been able to profit by that species of property, which is unable to collect their rents, so that the lands of Socica were not worth taking.

He commenced his operations on a small scale in the raids and attacks of the mountain country about Piva, and then attacked and destroyed the smaller blockhouses in that section, finally capturing all except the fortress of Goranisko, which was an artillery. The last taken, that of Bezouze, was garrisoned by one hundred and five men, and was taken by a bit of native engineering work.

Socica constructed a blockhouse on wheels, one side being left open, and, with a number of men, worked it up in spite of the musketry fire, which was unable to penetrate the logs—until it was in contact with the wall of the blockhouse, when he began mining the wall, and the garrison immediately surrendered. The troops taken were sent to Goranisko, after a detention sufficient to show them that the insurgents were capable of treating their adversaries with humanity.

Carried.

The matter of appointing a committee for the purpose of cutting down salaries of the Board of Health was referred to the Board. Whole, which will report at next meeting. Mr. Fratz said that as he understood that Kuehler & Co. were furnishing carbolic acid to the Hospital at 75 cents per pound, and as the Board of Health were paying $1.10 per pound for the same, he moved that the Health Officer be empowered to contract with Kuehler & Co. to furnish the drug to the Hospital at the same price at which it was furnished to the Hospital. Carried.
